those who were still alive out of prison and gave them politically unimportant posts. It is generally thought in Bulgaria that a real de-Stalinization or de-Chervenkovization would start if these Kostovites, some of whom were very able men, were restored to responsible posts. It is a possibility; it would certainly be a popular move.