

ITEM No. 12821

AH
14 December 1951
VI/R/4/1675

POLAND

Joke

SOURCE ROME: No information available

DATE OF OBSERVATION: current period

+ + +

During their usual Sunday walk a little boy saw a demolished building and, turning to his father, he asked:

"Daddy, what was here before ?"

"A butcher's shop," replied his father.

"And what is a butcher's shop," asked the little boy;

"It's a shop where meat is prepared and sold," answered the father.

Whereupon, the little boy, with a surprised look in his eyes asked:

"What's meat, Daddy ?"

EVAL. COMMENT: none.