MURDERERS OF THE TRUTH.

SOURCE AUDIENCE ANALYSIS SECTION: Provincial daily GLOS WIELKOPOLSKI 24 November 1955, 25 November 1955 and 26 November 1955; article by Wojciech TRYBLESKI (in three instalments).

AUDIENCE ANALYSIS SECTION COMMENT: This remarkable article should be read in full. The passage mentioning Mr. LANGENDORF's statement on RFE policy refers to his conference with the West German press.

EVALUATION COMMENT: None

Anonymity bears the stigma of crime. It reminds of murder. It is like a shot from behind the corner, which cannot kill merely because it is made of paper and ink...

My conviction is confirmed by the fact that the page of which I am looking at the present moment is signed "Enemy Number One". Someone must over-estimate himself to use such a name.

The second letter is written by P.K. of Lodowa Street, Poznan.

There is one problem the authors of these letters mention: freedom. They express their deep indignation because - as they write - "There is no freedom of speech and action in present Poland". They all refer to the "Freies Europa" broadcasting station which - according to "Enemy Number One" - is the only source from which you can extract the truth. P.K. supplies it with a comment: "There is freedom over there !"

Mystery of the Poisoned Well

"Editor" Wiktor TROSCIANKO sounds irritated. The microphone trembles when touched by his words. These words are as hard as stone, they are wet and slippery like a lie.

This old and experienced National Democrat who is editing the "Freies Europa" programs called "The Other Side of the Coin" is merely one of the men "distinguished" in the service of slander. I have placed him first among other liars because he "deserves" it through his unusual method of collecting material for a program oozing with venom. Together with his associates, TROSCIANKO is busy all day scanning the home papers to blow the critical remarks printed there up to the size of a "bomb" before a microphone.

There is practically no mystery about "Free Europe". Many people from both sides are well acquainted with the inside story of that poisoned well from which the inventions of TROSCIANKO's associates are pouring over the world. We know the shameful details, we know the purpose of existence of the headquarters of a no longer whispered, but hysterically screaming propaganda.

This phony firm does not conceal its identity. On the contrary, it indulges in impudent sincerity covered for the benefit of naive people with a thin layer of deceitful sugar icing.

A press conference was recently held in Western Germany, at which Ernest LANGENDORF, one of the American directors of "Freies Europa", declared:

"Freies Europa cannot afford to conduct a policy of its own.. Our policy is pro-German (what Langendorf had in mind was West Germany - WT). Even a German broadcasting station would not do it better".

And so we have the first detail which entitles us to draw the following conclusion: Messrs. NOWAK (the director of the barking station), TROSCIANKO, BLAZYNSKI, ZARZOCKI, ROKOSZ, SNIADY and others are paid agents of the Bonn Republic whose hungry appetite for Polish lands, for the Oder-Neisse frontier, for POZNAN, STALINOGROD and GDANSK are well known; it is moreover known for its unconcealed attempts to refresh the traditions left in the memory of the Bonn leaders by a madman with a fringe and a black moustache.

These individuals are in the service of the America, British, Gehlen and some other intelligence agencies, a fact reported by Zbigniew BRYDAK, a former employee of the radio station who has recently returned to Poland. Let us get acquainted with at least a fragment of his story ("Swiat" No. 35 of September 4):

"Mr. ZAWADZKI or ZENCZYKOWSKI, NOWAK's deputy for "special affairs", in charge of RFE's intelligence and subversive work. Some of RFE employees are careful enough to conceal their relations with the American intelligence service, while the others admit it almost without restraint. After my visit to a section called "Evaluation" I had no doubt as to the tasks of "Freies Europa", which is merely a form of the American intelligence service."

Is it sufficient? I think it is. 80 gentlemen with Polish names ("Freies Europa" has 1,200 employees, including 80 employed by the Polish section), who have found for themselves the demagogical name of "The Voice of Free Poland", were unmasked by the very institution they are serving with so much zeal.

To complete the grim picture, should we add that the listeners of "Freies Europa" are familiar with the "name" of Jacek SNIADY who is talking in the program "No Curtain Shall Divide Us". But not all the listeners are aware that "Sniady" is the pseudonym of a prewar landowner whose real name is SZYSZKO-BOHUSZ. Similarly, the "medium holder LASSOTA" is Tadeusz CELT-CHCIUK.

The role and the methods employed by the workers of the "Freies Europa" radio-station were unmasked a long time ago. Their delicately drawn camouflage proved of no avail...

But let us see the mood in which they speak, those priests of BONN's neo-fascism bought for West German marks.

Here is an excerpt from a program entitled "Weekly review of the American press" of October 23rd. A certain Feliks GADOMSKI has this to say in that program: "The Communists' noisy propaganda cannot cover the fact that ruins are still very much in evidence in Polish towns. As far as the reconstruction of towns is concerned nothing has been done...."

This is just a sample of the language employed by "Freies Europa". I think it would be senseless to polemics with such statements. After all, there is no need for convincing the authors of these calumnies that they are telling lies. There is no need for this because they know it themselves. They also know that in Poland which they so hate there are less and less people who are willing to sit down at their receivers to listen to their voices.

Why then do they not stop telling their lies? Two main reasons can be brought up here. The first is the fact that all those former landowners, endeks (members of the National Democratic party - Trans.) and starostas who long ago lost the last traces of their consciences and national feeling in their miserable souls, sell themselves in order to maintain themselves at any price at the crest of the dirty and reactionary wave of emigré leaders who still dream of regaining their lost positions in Poland. The second reason is the necessity of retaining around the London emigré leadership the largest possible amount of emigrés for, after all, the "colonels" and "ministers" must have someone to deceive and rob, someone must be there to fill the role of "political meat"....

They do this with all the peace of conscience of vile traitors. Conscience? It would be difficult to refrain from bringing up an analogy which will honor in a peculiar way the gentlemen from "Freies Europa". Let us remind them.... or perhaps they don't need any reminding. Surely they remember that the former boss of those who employ them today, Adolf Hitler, wrote in "Mein Kampf": "I liberate man from that humiliating bogey which we call conscience".

The anonymous authors of letters to the editor unanimously (as if they had agreed on it) strike one note: "There is no freedom in Poland, words of truth are only broadcast by Western radio stations. Why then is listening to those radio-stations condemned ?

That's just the point and this is just what hurts those masked "correspondents" who hide behind their anonymity to put questions which they consider to be catchy ones.

The Rosenbergs, when they were told to take a seat on the electric chair, realized that they were falling victim to freedom. American freedom of course, meaning freedom of the type which exists in the mind of a fascist for whom this very concept entails the freedom to murder, to persecute people, to bring them to the verge of despair through exploitation and oppression. The heroic people died because there still exists in the world a "Freedom" which does not prohibit foul murder.

Would anyone of us agree to the introduction of such "freedom" in Poland ? Would anyone of us allow the drowning of a 14-year-old boy in a river simply because he was a Negro ? I shall risk nothing in saying that there is not one Polish citizen in Poland or throughout the world who could reconcile himself to this type of freedom. Similarly, no honest Pole would agree to this type of freedom. Similarly, no honest Pole would agree to the introduction of such freedom in Poland as exists for instance in Cyprus where the British colonists are free to pacify in the most bloody manner the people of that island who are fighting for the right to decide their own future, for the right to live without the interference of Her Majesty's police....

Would anyone in people's Poland permit the persecution of Jews, the destruction of their dwellings or their being deported to death camps ? Certainly not ! It is impossible just because there reigns in our country a freedom which does not tolerate such acts of violence, because there exists no freedom in Poland which permits this sort of crime.

Is it possible to inaugurate in Poland a great capitalistic factory and through it exploit the workers ? It is not possible, and hence we may conclude that there exists in Poland no freedom for capitalist exploitation and capitalist violence. There is no such freedom in Poland because its existence would render impossible the building of socialism which, after all, consists in man's total liberation from all violence. In order that this task may be achieved, all means of production must be nationalized and this cannot be done without taking away from the capitalists their freedom to oppress and rob the masses.

The history of nations is, above all, the history of the class struggle. The closer the Siege of the class hostile to the proletariat and the greater its terror of inevitable defeat, the more intense is that struggle. Secret and "legalized" murder, the activities of various bands, espionage, subversion, hostile propaganda inciting to discord and then to war, these are the various forms of that complicated and bitter struggle.

There is no need to convince anyone that spies, saboteurs, subversionists, spokesmen of hostile propaganda, open enemies of peace, cannot be free in Poland. In any case, let us recall this: the law of the Sejm of the Polish People's Republic prohibits the dissemination of propaganda in Poland which incites to a new war.

People's Poland is a mother and the best of protectors for all those who live for her. A solicitous mother always shields her children from any harmful influence which may pervert or destroy the characters of her sons or daughters. She always warns children against, to take an example, "keeping bad company".

"What ? many a reader will ask. Let the citizens think for themselves. Almost 20 million of them aren't children any more."

True, but you will admit that those are above all at stake who have not yet come to believe in the sense and beauty of our life for this or that reason but who will shortly believe. Is it permissible to leave these people under the influence of yapping stations which contaminate the ether, which incite, yes, incite to sabotage, to war, to assassination ? We are agreed that this is not permissible. That is why it is not so much that to make them believe in the sense and beauty of our life instead of listening to the venomous words of hate of the yapping-stations.

Music which orders to kill.

P.K." asks in his letter in whose interest is it to condemn listening to the "yapping radiostations".

Let us then consider this subject in a detached way. Let us remember the hard but joyful, to all of us, moments after the liberation. I do not want to write here about the joy and happiness shared by the working masses in Poland thanks to the victorious march of the Soviet Army. I would rather talk about the other category of people - about those, who did not like the establishment of People's Poland. Them, as now, there were many of them; at home and abroad. These enemies were actively supported by all sorts of Fascist radiostations. Words not only of hatred but also calling for murderous up-risings against new Poland were sent by air from Spain, the USA, England, Turkey and from Western Germany to Poland.

We remember the hideous murders committed on the leaders of the workers and peasants, on the militia-men and on the members of our first few co-operatives. We are aware that those numerous gangs ravaging in our woods and villages were instigated by those centers of hatred of Poland - those Fascist radio stations. From there came the voice inciting to organize subversive activities in Poland, to the murder of social activists to burnings of peasants' huts. The numerous trials of those terroristic bands revealed the details of co-operation between the ring leaders of the bands and the radiostations. For instance it is a fact, that the "Voice of America" broadcast special musical programs which were a code with instructions on the subject of "effective disablement of the Communist"....

Let us remember the trials which took place only several years ago ! Find the reports of them in the old copies of the newspapers ! These reports are printed monuments preserving tragic memories of, how often, very young people for whom the rooms of the courts-of-law had become the stage of a gruesome epilogue of their life. The listening to the broadcasts calling for armed opposition towards their Fatherland and its best sons had been the prologue of this story.

Programs of the enemies of Poland acted also in a different way. Demanding a third war, inciting to sabotage and diversion and spreading lies, they shook the faith in the beauty of socialism.

Another person made a statement that condemnation of listening to the enemy's programs is a kind of pressure.

It is true. People's Poland, the state of the dictatorship of the proletariat, applies force against its enemies. Such is the law of the dictatorship of an exploited majority applied against an exploiting minority. Anxiety for the well understood social and national interest demands the enforcement of this law.

1937: "Hier Spricht Gleiwitz".

Polish Gliwice are not far away from Munich. Also, not such a long space of time passed between the moment when the German radiostation had been closed once and for ever in Gliwice and another radiostation of the "Freies Europa" opened in Munich. The rotten genealogical tree of the pillars of the "yapping stations" is not either so remote from those times.... It was also from Gliwice, that shortly before the war, the Hitlerite radiostations unexpectedly spoke in Polish.... Even a permanent title of its subversive programs was agreed upon as "is it not strange ?"

Yes, is it not strange, that now, as then the spirit of the programs is the same ?

It seems to me, every one in a different way experiences the sacred greatness of peace. Once, a friend of mine told me, that whenever he happens to listen to a concert, he always thinks of peace. It is a very proper association of ideas: the enchanting voice of a singer and the sound of a bomb. Those from over there chose the latter....

And as for the anonymous letters.... Well, one may assume that the programs of the so-called "FREE EUROPE" are listened to with burning ears by the same kind of people as their "ideological" partners - the authors and producers of their programs which breathe hatred and belch with rage. Both parties have the same aims: they look forward to a war which would bring back the old times of shame and oppression.

As for us - we are quite sure that such a historic regress will never happen. History teaches us that.

The murderers of the truth about Poland will have to close their mouths because the truth is always victorious. (Wojciech Tryblewski). P.S. for the "Enemy No 1": The author of the above article will not feel surprised on hearing that he is a "paid agent of the Kremlin" who at the orders from Moscow published a slanderous letter against the true Poles in the occupation press. It is a well known method. W.T.

End.
