Replying to a question on the nomination of Gyula Kallai to the post of the presidency of the Patriotic People's Front and eventual changes in the activity of this movement, Gyáros emphasized that this change in leadership does not represent a change in the activity of the Patriotic People's Front. The role of this movement in the political life of our country has been clearly laid down in the course of the October session of the national council and the session clearly defined its attitude toward the plurality of parties: that this would be an erroneous and harmful step. The PPF should be a firm alliance between communists and those outside the party.
